This month all of our monthly subscribers received a random sticker, mostly from breweries but a few lucky folks may have received a pinball related sticker. Next month subscribers will be gifted a hand crafted recipe card for my favorite salad dressing.

It's been over a year since anyone has played in an IFPA sanctioned tournament. With Covid-19 vaccines flowing like Whitewater, I hope to earn some WPPRs in 2021, like at Pincinnati in December!

IFPA Tournaments

IFPA stands for International Flipper Pinball Association.

This group sanctions tournaments and awards points called World Pinball Player Ranking points (WPPRs). Covid-19 prompted them to stop sanctioning events in March of 2020. Hopefully they will start sanctioning events again later this year.

If you have never played in an IFPA tournament, here is what to expect. To sign up, find the TD or Tournament Director running the event, and let them know you want to play. Pro-tip: look for the person with a laptop!

Most local tournaments cost less than $10 to enter and take about 3-5 hours on average. After the tournament is over you will be able to find the results and your rank on ifpapinball.com.

There are many different formats, but usually you will play a random game in a group of four players. Many TDs use the MatchPlay.events website to run the tournament.

MATCHPLAY.EVENTS

Matchplay will also tell you what game you are on and what order to play in. Be careful not to play out of turn, always double check or ask someone in your group if it's your turn. All skill levels are welcome.

Congrats to TWIP for winning that category for a deep dive article on JJPs new Guns N' Roses machine, which also won best game of the year. The show was hosted by Imoto Arcade and Jack Danger. Jack won best streamer for the 4th year in a row.
